Exercise: Create alternatives

Groun
Oroup	,

You will now focus on a specific aspect of your new system. Re-read the concept and functional table and choose one of the system's functionalities. To explore the design space, you will search for different methods to achieve this functionality. Think from the different available technologies available, to different possible interaction types.

Discuss with the group and	describe at least three design alterna	tives for one aspect of your	system.
